To Col. Thomas J. Rose, collector of the Corporation to be independent of Court Square, and self-appointed custodian of Public Morality.

MEMPHIS, August 25, 1859.

MY DEAR FRIEND.—When in the presence of witnesses you will see in the papers? I at least expected that you would have the manhood to sign your own name to the communication.

In yesterday's Examiner, under the name de yesterday, "you have thought fit, knowing it to other slander regarding myself and establishment.

Now to your charges. First, keeping a gambling house, hotel, and, by implication, a tipping house, under pretense of selling roulette, etc., etc. Second, that you have been to the house you do now, for the purpose of securing a tenement house. With up stairs I have had nothing to do; there is no communication between me and the house you do not know.

The officers of the Gen. Pike, from Louisville yesterday, report that they found foot loose at the hotel where you do now, and the W.H. Langley, Jr., White river, etc. The Pike thinks this does not mean it was not a tenement house, but a gambling house.

Mr. Ed. W. Hammon, a well known citizen, has taken charge of the freight department.

We are informed that a change has been made in the ownership of the new wharf, and that Mr. W. G. Price will be in charge.

The steamer John Bell arrived from Louisville yesterday, with a light trip. There is no doubt that the bell will go into the river.
